
ZXR400 SP yes SP

Posted by cargo - 2007/08/02 19:07

I have a ZXR400 SP for sale 1997

It's currently on SORN but should pass MOT with only a little work

There's 28K showing on the clock I can't be certain how accurate this is as it's an import but a MPH clock has been fitted.

Cosmetically is reasonably good for a 97 bike there is one large scratch on the seat unit and it could do with a good clean but is generally in good nick

I'll throw in a set of part worn tyres Metzlers or maybe Pirellis

For those who don't know the SP model ZXR is a little bit different as it was originally built for the Japanese market and they had a race series for 400s so it has a few little special touches.

Fully adjustable forks

Close ratio gearbox

flatside carbs

Different ignition

Slotted (adjustable) camshaft sprockets

The carbs, gearbox and camshafts regularly fetch Â£300 each on e-bay because of their rarity.

I'll let anyone have the whole bike for Â£1900.....no offers

I could also deliver to Liverpool/Birkenhead or Stranraer the cost of my ferry ticket.

I did plan to break this bike and sell it in parts on e-bay but it would be a shame to so I'll try selling it complete first

<http://i147.photobucket.com/albums/r313/cargo96/zxr400sp1.jpg>

<http://i147.photobucket.com/albums/r313/cargo96/zxr400sp2.jpg>

=====