
Dytona 1982

Posted by SwideRR - 2008/01/08 16:33

:cheer:

freddie1

freddie2

freddie3

amazing sound of these machines!!!!

.... am i born too late :unsure: :dry: ->

??????

;)

=====

Re:Dytona 1982

Posted by GSRon - 2008/01/22 09:52

.... am i born too late ->

No, you are not late... you have almost 6 weeks to get to Daytona..! I would offer to buy you a pint, but we know our beer here is... well at least it is cold... :lol:

Cheers..!

Ron

=====

Re:Dytona 1982

Posted by SwideRR - 2008/01/25 00:31

I would love to be there :)

meaby some day

Cheers

=====

Re:Dytona 1982

Posted by GSRon - 2008/02/29 17:54

Well, next Monday and Tuesday we race at Daytona..! Great Fun..!! We met up with a chap that shipped his bike over here for about 210 quid..! Not bad, eh..? The last two years, I have been asking chaps I know if they are willing to let their spare bike be lent out... I will continue to ask... for next year. We sure do have a lot of fun..! Now the racers call Daytona a "point and shoot" track.. but yesterday we raced Roebing Road which is more technical... about a 2.1 mile course. We did well.. we are pleased.. the bike is fast enough to be up front...

Sadly, we are both sick and that put a damper on things... we have 3 plus days to get well and go faster..!!

And I am serious, I would love to have some of you guys come over this way..! After all we do happen to speak the same language... well we both think each other butchers it at times.. heh...

Cheers..!!

Ron - Having more fun than olde guys should..!!

=====

Re:Dytona 1982

Posted by lorry - 2008/03/04 04:10

I heard last week in the pub that Jeff Shaw was in Daytona January or Febuary testing out a Nascar at the Richard Petty race school.

=====