Heard Rossi say it was just like daytime?! Can't work out if he meant it or was towing the party line. Maybe the lights will help them see the sand on the track better:unsure:

great to see the big crowds in qatar. as per usual. great for the racing fans.
fekkin hope they run a race on the moon next season. probably pull the same crowd. and cigarette advertising.

What was Pedrosa at rear ending Rossi, was he too fast or did Rossi slow up???

Good to see Toseland up there....

I was watching the qualifying last night and it took me a couple of minutes to figure out what was different, shadows on the track, very shiny bright bikes and it looked dark?? It was then I realised it was a floodlit session and to be honest bring it on, it was great to watch and looked really good on a big (ish)tv. Nearest I've seen to that is at the MGP when the last riders are coming in on late practice with the street lights on :lol:

stoner - untouchable
n.k.o.t.b. - outstanding old-timers - sad

Watched it last night. Would have been a unique experience to have been there in person. The darkness made it feel as if it was raced "indoors".
