Hi,

Due to some ongoing usability problems in our images section of the fanzone, we have decided to relocate our images to a forum. Users appear more accustomed to posting in the forum (rather than the fanzone) and we also think the images will receive more coverage this way.

The images forum can be found from the forum homepage or by clicking here. We have moved some of the recent Cookstown threads over to the new forum in order to start us off.

We've decided to give away a fleece to the best image posted before the 31st May so get clicking!

Thanks for your co-operation.
