Hi Savo, it is back online now - you can access it via the fazone dropdown menu at the top of the screen. It isn't running very fast at the moment because there is an error on the page. Should have that fixed soon though.

We also plan to make a few changes to the look, feel and functionality of the section but that may be a couple of months away.

Thanks for your patience. Just in time for some of your snaps from Cookstown!

How do you add photos to the Fanzone?

Hi,

Due to some ongoing usability problems in our images section of the fanzone, we have decided to relocate our images to a forum. Users appear more accustomed to posting in the forum (rather than the fanzone) and we also think the images will receive more coverage this way.

Please note, images previously posted in our fanzone will appear in this forum shortly.

The images forum can be found from the forum homepage or by clicking here. We have moved some of the recent Cookstown threads over to the new forum in order to start us off.

We've decided to give away a fleece to the best image posted before the 31st May so get clicking!

Thanks for your co-operation.
