Is It Me Or Do Jester Interactive Love S*&£%@^g On Thier Customers?

They Still Haven't Updated Their Site, Release Date Still Says 30/05/08

They Have A Bebo Page To See Their Bebo Homepage, But Have Made It Private So General Public Can't See It. I Therefore Added Them As A Friend, And Still Haven't Had My Request Accepted.

---

I Have Heard Of No Official Reason From Jester As To Why The Game Release Has Been Put Back.

The Main Way Of Communicating With Them Was Via Their Forums, But They Were Taken Offline Months And Months Ago, Yet A Message Still Says "please come back again soon", But Several Months Later, Still No Progress.

To Be Honest I Was Expecting This As They Did It With The First Game. Its A Disgrace.

Aint Sure When It Will Be Released Now;

play.com say 27/06/08
duke video say 13/06/08
game say 01/06/08....?

Hope It Aint 27/06/08 As Thats When World Superbike 2008 Comes Out For PS2 Aswell, Won't Be A Difficult Decision As To Which I Play First Tho! ;)

So the game IS on sale at the TT grandstand, so the real reason it wasn't released last Friday is that Duke Video wanted the first sales of the game, someone from Jester Interactive owes an explanation on this.

This is fairly normal for Jester Interactive (the game developers). The original TT Superbikes game was released almost 2 years after their first release date.

TT Superbikes Real Road Racing Championship was originally due for release at Easter, then 30th May, 13th June, 27th June and now 04th July is the latest.

Don't hold your breath.

I have ordered from HMV (£17.99) when it eventually gets released they will deliver it to you by post on the morning of the release date.

I saw a stand at Donington for Capcom. They are releasing Moto GP 08 on PS2, and PS3 In October. They also plan to release it on XBOX AND WII at some stage also. This new game will have 125, 250 and Moto GP and also a new "Night Race" mode for Qatar GP.

Well Duke's Website Says 4th July, So I Guess This Has Been Changed Back To Friday 27th June, Especially If You Have Had A Dispatch Confirmation Email Sent. Must Be Posting It Today So It Will Arrive With You On Friday...

I Hope I'm Right...

Thanks For The Info Groover, Sounds Like Its Gonna Be Similar To MotoGP4 On PS2 With The 125cc And 250cc Classes Aswell. That in My opinion Is The 2nd Best Ever Motorbike Racer On PS2 After TT Superbikes! It Will Be Cool To Race At Night Aswell In Qatar!

Just Been On The Phone To Duke, The Guy Said That Because They Are The Sole Distributers Of The Game, They Are Starting To Send Out The Games To The Stores, HMV, Play, Zavvi, etc.

They Also Said They Have The Game In Their Warehpuse, But An Agreeemnt With Sony Means That They Can't Ship Them Out Til 2nd & 3rd July.

He Said Some Lucky People That Have Pre-ordered From Duke Will Recieve Theirs On Thursday 3rd, Depending Where Abouts In The Isles You Are. The Others Will Receive Theirs On The Friday Release Day.

Good news indeed Guys. With Jester's normal performance I was expecting the worst.

Thankfully I am wrong.

Roll on next week. I'll just have to bring the new game to Skerries Watch the racing, and then have a quick run round Dundrod in the paddock before the BBQ and then off to the 2 stroke clubs bash in the Yacht Bar.

Oh it's a hard old life!

I ordered mine with Play as it was the cheapest I found it and expected it to arrive on 27th. Checked my account with them to see the release date has chnaged and Play didn't even bother to e-mail to tell me this. I am not impressed with that kind of service at all. They could at least let people who have pre-ordered it know.

Graphics and gameplay are very similar to the 1st game.
This just seems like the same game with more circuits, more real life riders, etc.
Its all good though as I liked the graphics and gameplay of the 1st game.

Oh you have to use the analog stick to steer. not a fan but i guess i will just have to get used to it

Ian Lougher, John Burrows, Paul Owen, Nigel beattie, Chris palmer, The dunlops, davy Morgan, & Mark Buckley are some of the names ive come across so far. That's just been around Aberdare park up to Superstock though. Its very tricky round there especially in the wet!! When you win in season mode you unlock the next track on the calendar & get a new bike & leathers etc. The bikes you start off with all seem to be 06 model hondas. The analog stick is difficult, but it's definitely a good game, just wish you didn't have to unlock everything. Can't wait to get round dundrod & the north west!! There's the race school mode too, where you complete challenges in a certain time to unlock more things. Havn't really had a good run yet but will give it another rip tonight!!

When I first experienced using the analog sticks in the past it took me a few days to get used to but this actually does become easier to use and more control over acceleration and cornering.

NIGHTMARE

I Do Think Its Daft That Even If You Brush The Walls, Hedges, Barriers etc Then You Fail The Challenges And Have To Start Again, Especially When You Nudge Something Towards The End Of A TT Lap.
