yea it was soooooooooooooooooooooo much better than 500 gp paul ricard 1988,and so much better than kirkistown 1989 senior races when gary cowan made a laughing stock of ron haslam on pepsi suzuki 500 gp bike:woohoo:but then you wernt following bikes then so you wouldnt remember those races,you were to busy trying to learn how to wheelie your bmx then:dry:

One of the best I have seen for a while. Just goes to prove that rider aids ruin good racing.

Hi peeps, just thought I'd jump to the defence of physco on this thread. Nayhead as you keep drumming on about racing knowledge and racing, I think your childish and irrelevant rants don't belong on this forum as I'm sure all you guys will agree!

My young nephew has come out with more sense than your rants. So get off your high horse.

*Remember this is a forum for motorbike fans not personnal slagging matches*

Thats about all from me ladies and gentlemen..... and nayhead!

There seems to be a lot of bad vibes floating about this forum lads!!!! I think when psycho said "recent years" he meant less than 20 years ago! I remember Paul Ricard 1988 when lawson won it and Jerez was also a cracker that year when lawson won again (in fact i even got eddie lawson to sign a replica helmet in the deerpark hotel when he was here). . . .they were all tidy races and i was only 8 years old at the time (and i could even wheelie my BMX then)!! All those 2 stroke boys were heroes I agree and mr schwantz will always be the daddy in my eyes!! If I lived in texas i would have supported him, if i lived in australia, i would probably have supported gardiner but since i dinny live in either of those places, I dont see the harm in supporting JR because at the minute he is the quickest man in ballyclare (and maybe even doagh for that matter)! Long live the 2-stroke 500's and keep er lit #65.

Nite Nite

I don't get what this nayheed bloke is about. Maybe he wants us to say that he obtains the ultimate amount of motorcycle racing knowledge and that no-one knows Johnny Rea the way he does. Then maybe he'll start contributing some kind of constructive input!:ohmy:

Assen wss '08 was certainly the best race I have ever watched. I have seen all the races mentioned but I can never remember a race where the winning margin was so small AND the leading bunch of riders were soo close for the duration of the race and at the finish AND there were no dirty tricks just good, clean amazing bike racing.

Mccleg, I reckon JR could be the best we have even as far as Ahoghill!! Not discounting nayheed of course who, if he did race, would probably be better!!

think you newcomers to this site haveent worked it out in your pea sized brains yet,that i am a fan of young jr,s:dry: it,s just i aint one of these arse lickers that latch on2 these riders that are fast,in my eyes there is 5 or 6 rows of riders it takes to fill a grid and each one deserves a bit of support,i mean you dont always have to support the winner do you ? and yes if anybody else wants 2 have a go at nayheed feel free to ask me any questions about motorbike racing and i can guarentee you lot that i can tell you the answer without getting out my dvd,s or hitting google.

so if you were at deerpark that night MC,cleg ,then you wud have no problems telling me who was the panel at the top table ? what was this night in deerpark in aid of ?
who bought the john kocinski leathers ?
who bought the wayne rainey leathers ?
who was compere for the night ?
which one of the former world champions asked woolsey coulter to help him drink a few of the pints of guinness that he couldnt drink ?

if you boys are going to come on here doubting my racing knoledge you'd better be sure you know more than me,cos im sure i can answer most of your question..... regards nayheed (former team mate of stanley kerr,racing burnside)

Ok it took me a while but I have all my answers for the Deerpark challenge.....

Q. Who was on the panel at the top table?

A. A lot of severe great bike racing buddies.

Q. What was the night in aid of?

A. To raise money to fix the fence at Aghadowey's shitehouse corner.

Q. Who bought John Kocinski's leathers?

A. Ernie Coates.

Q. Who bought Wayne Rainey's leathers?

A. Ernie Coates.

Q. Who was the compere that night?

A. Jimmy Cricket.

Q. What former world champion asked Woosley Coulter to help him drink a few pints of guinness?

A. Steve Parish.

Tidy . . . I think I got them all right!

Nayheed would you ever just crawl back into your pre-historic corner. I and these guys are new to the forum but my point previous was that you are having personal digs. I get your drift on your knowledge which I can only describe as an ego fix for yourself. No one really wants to hear about how you know so much irrelevant statistics. We are not discussing 1988 here or Pepsi Suzuki for that matter, it was about World Supersport in this thread! And also on your other riders in a race quote, as far as I was aware JR is the only Ulsterman on the grid this year in the Championship in question. Secondly, following the heo surely doesn't apply here. Simply following a friend and countryman that is giving this country something to shout about on a Sunday afternoon.

Tidy . . . I think I got them all right! 2 outta 6 is pure solid woaf ! compere was Julian Ryder ! money was raised for Gary Cowan ! panel was Randy Mamola, Wayne Rainey, Eddie Lawson, John Kocinski and Kenny Roberts ! and it was John Kocinski that asked Woolsey Coulter to help him drink his Guinness ! you plebs on here know nout bout bikes really when it comes down to it, well maybe over last 5 years or so that's about it. regards Neil (nayheed) Hey boy!

Nayheed you are a big woman!! I'm not Jr's biggest fan but he did ride hard at Assen. He deserves praise, there arent too many young guy's in recent times doing as well as he is.

I personally have been to some great races, seen guys like Gary Cowan, Ron Haslam, Mick Doohan, Joey, Kenny Irons, seen Barry Sheene win at Donington, seen Casey Stoner, stefano perigini and Mccleg race at Kirkistown. Seen Psycho on the podium at the holestone '100'.

They were great days, but Nayheed they were feckin years ago, motorbike racing has always been about the future, about progression, JR is the future, so stop getting us down dude.

No Ron, I seen it, think it was 2000 when Sheene won on an Aermacchi at Donington, I'm not heated I just think that you guy's are missing the point!! JR is the best chance of our wee country producing a world champ circuit racer. The days of Brian Reid and Joey were great, but they are like nayheed's hair..... not coming back.
