
Seamus.

Posted by edscape - 2008/05/10 22:53

Anyone know how Seamus Greene is doing. I realise it's a long term thing, but I'd like to think he was coming on a bit.

=====

Re:Seamus.

Posted by admin - 2008/05/10 23:18

Edscape,

Seamus' family have previously asked that this is not discussed in the public domain. If any details do become available, we'll publish them at the discretion of Seamus' family.

Thanks.

=====

Re:Seamus.

Posted by edscape - 2008/05/11 00:23

Sorry. Respect.

=====

Re:Seamus.

Posted by Muzz - 2008/05/12 00:29

Edscape if you go over to www.irishracephotography.com Baylon is down seeing him regulary. He also writes pieces on how Seamus is doing and fundraising that is going on.

=====

Re:Seamus.

Posted by edscape - 2008/05/12 11:28

Cheers. Thanks for that. I will get up there soon. His accident knocked the stuffing out of me. I did the first Athea and stayed with Seamus who was with Chris Dowd's CD racing crew and Martin who had to be towed out of the field after practice. Some craic that night and then no racing due to the rain. Seamus told me that he overshot the left turn after the run up the hill from the garage "in his van". Signage was a bit primitive back then. A genuinely funny guy. He is really missed around the paddocks.

=====