
Hello out there.

Posted by edscape - 2008/05/11 14:23

I just looked at the last few post and realised that I'm the only one here. Ok, last night I stayed in because I'm working today. So that's my excuse. I'm not the sad bastard I may appear. I am finishing up now and going to watch Chelsea take the Premiership from the scum. It may be a while before I return. And for those of you attending the NW200, take it easy, enjoy the racing, and don't forget the sunscreen. See you for a very subdued Skerries.

Of course I remember you Pykey. At the cricket club for practice. I might do Kells, but my heart just hasn't been in it. I am genuinely frightened when I see the bikes go by. It's like looking over a cliff. You know that feeling. Cheers, and keep well.
